PROPOLIS TINCTURE

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Propolis is one of the most used natural remedies in popular culture and known since the past, a valuable contribution during the cold winter. This product is collected by bees in the form of resinous exudates originating mainly from buds, but also from leaves and branches. The role of Propolis for the bee and the hive's health is well known. Its main function is to maintain an antiseptic environment in the hive and keep the colony healthy. It promotes "social immunity of bees" and helps them to fight infections.
